

"The doubter is a true man of science.

... leading to discoveries and innovations; and objective and rational outlook.

The doubter is a true man of science

- questioner
- person with belief not blind faith
- cautious/thinks critically
- doesn't get affected by others' opinion
- associate
- friend
- supporter
- reason/logic
- facts/truth
- innovations/discoveries
- counter power of social wrong doings based on absurd traditions and cultural practices
- enablers of growth
- supporter of women equality rights

Intro:

NO IDEA HOW TO BEGIN THIS [APOLOGIES]

- Constant discoveries and innovations challenges our belief and things we took perceived as truth to be only quasi-truth or wrong at the very least.
- One who questions or has doubts and seeks answer for them — walks the path of discovery, discovery of truth. Reforming our perception.
- Not guide by faith or does not believe in omens, and superstitions, rather they chose rational approach.
- Questioning, and why it can't be shaded puts light on the functioning of things be it the geocentric view of universe which was challenged and proven wrong by many including Galileo, involving the Church to keep Galileo on house arrests and banning of all the book about heliocentrism including books of Galileo too.
- Science ~~and~~/reason → growth — economic, social, etc.
- Promotion of equality — men + women

- Helps in rooting out the problems of social evil and derogatory practices against women.
- Safe guarding earth and its citizens from threats and outbreaks with the help of science. Analysing needs and resource requirement, and promoting equality - with use of statistics and data analysis initiating prompt and efficient administration.

Inversion:

Science could be answer for many of questions and yet it is difficult to answer few things such as existence of the universe, be it "spore theory" or the big bang. Calculated and precise numbers

If there's to be even slight change even in trajectory of earth revolving around sun could be the reason for no-life on it. Thus, it can be believed that balance of universe and its working is and probably has been taken care by a superior entity,

"God. which science isn't equipped to debunk yet.